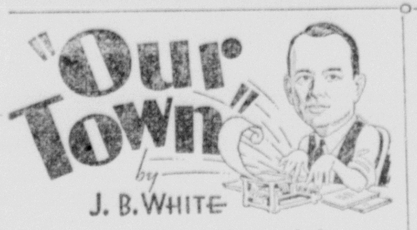
POSTAL CLERK MEETING FEB. 12

"Our Town"

by J. B. WHITE



So many visible effects of the passage of time are recorded in the apperance of the skin, that it is easy to understand why it has been said that man is no older than he looks. It is entirely understandable that appearance, in respect to age, is reflected in one's own consciousness. He comes to feel older than he is and older than he looks.

Vigor and vitality are apt to be registered in the skin, and firmness and resiliency are preserved with health. This does not prevent the gravings of care and of fret from appearing in the lines of the face, the total effect often providing compensation by the fact that the definite lines of character are strengthened.

No one is really complimented by the painter who works out the lines of the face or so tones them down that the heritage of the years in experience and reflection are lost to the individual in the effort to make him appear younger and "better looking." The visage of Lincoln appears to best advantage in those untouched photographs or painted portraits wherein are preserved each rugged line and obtrusive mole. Yet there is much that enters into the countenance of Lincoln which testifies to the needless abrasions of time upon texture in early years.

Science has been too long in learning that the disintegration of epidermis cells is the physiological cause for vanishing beauty. If these cells could be built up so as to preserve the appearance of health and defeat skin aging, the benefit would be reaped by multitudes who are interested in beauty lotions or face lifting.

Efficiency experts and practitioners in the art of super-salesmanship lay stress on what is casually termed "self-confidence." To sell one's product or to sell one's self, they say, one must have confidence in one's products or in one's ability and talents.

But there is a wide difference between legitimate self-confidence and stupid conceit. The latter quality, unfortunately, is to be found in many persons, in many different walks of life, and when displayed to any noticeable degree at all, is insufferable. Beautiful women, that is, those who are naturally beautiful and do not have to depend upon artificial aids, often take on the air of having been altogether responsible for their pulchritude. They forget that fate just as easily might have made them hideous. And the same thing is true of the hansome youth who, realizing his handsomeness, affects the role of having been altogether responsible for his good looks. Fate might just as easily have marred him, too.

Conceit, however, takes its worst form in those human frames which lay claim to more than the average brains or intellectuality, and this applies particularly to professional walks of life. Even in the matter of brains or intellect, whatever gods there be obviously are as capable of producing morons as they are of producing intellectual giants. The most beautiful woman ,of course, is that woman, who, although quite lovely, seems unconscious of it. And the wisest man is he who realizes that mortal wisdom, and especially his own endowment of it, has many limitations.

Perhaps it may intrest those who feel that they would dispense rainfall in a vastly different way from nanor the moon's horns, either, but beyond such negations their explana-

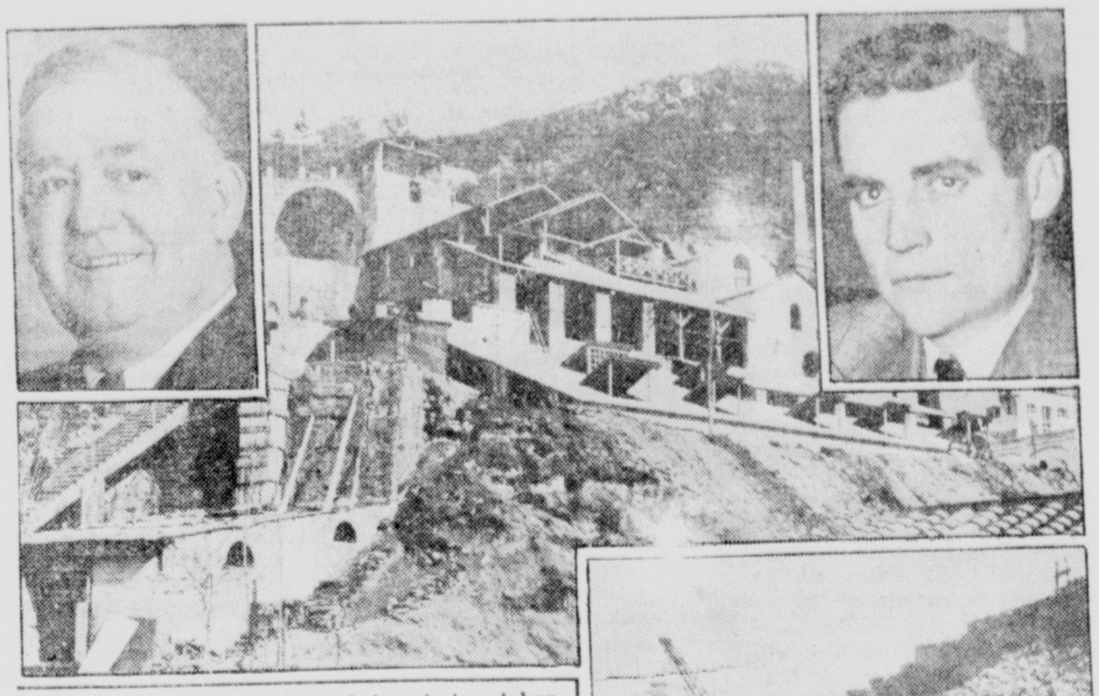
Texas Gulf Sulphur Earth's Great Treasure Trove



With more than 50 per cent of America's sulphur export market lost to foreigners in last six years, Uncle Sam is counting on sons of the Lone Star state to shoulder responsibility not only of recapturing our lost markets, but of preserving the domestic industry thus assuring U. S. farms and factories an adequate supply of sulphur at low cost in time of either peace or war. So declares Porter A. Whaley, inset, upper left, general manager of Texas State Manufacturers' Association. Texans are already in forefront of this battle to regain lost markets and among leaders is J. T. Claiborne, Jr., inset, upper right, native of Tarrant County, and vice-president of a leading sulphur company. Center, big plant erected in 1931 by large Italian sulphur company in Sardinia, Italy. Farm Home Conditions Improved in 1936 and Outlook is Good for the Year of 1937

College Station—General conditions of farm life throughout District 8, which is composed of Anderson, Bell, Bosque, Burnet, Coryell, Falls, Freestone, Hamilton, Hays, Houston, Lampasas, Leon, Limestone, McLellan, Madison, Milam, Robertson Travis and Williamson counties, is much improved and the outlook for 1937 is the best since 1928, according to Miss Zetha McInnis, district agent supervising the work.

Poor, Old John

John Public has another knot on his head, the kind that throbs so after a stiff wallop, but it won't be fatal, it never has. John's tough, alright, he has to be. Then too, he's used to such things. Sometimes its a little worse than usual.

This seems to be that time.

A startling bit of information is at hand. It concerns a meeting of football coaches from over the District, held in Cameron last week. They voted 5 to 3 to divide play in the district, adding another club, making nine in all.

To get the picture at once let us tell you that there will be no more games with Belton, Granger, Taylor, Georgetown or Thrall, unless one of these clubs happen to win in their half of the district. It means the big games that attract people and help finance football, are out. It means that Yoemen will play only Rockdale, Thorndale and Rosebud in conference games this fall. If they are successful they play the winner from the other side of the district for the title in District 26-B.

The ten game schedule for this fall is not yet made, but will include seven games with teams outside of the district. Thus two thirds of the games Yoemen will play will have no bearing on district honors and so it will be with every other team now designated in the east half of the district.

Coaches voting this arrangement for 1937 have undoubtedly discounted public opinion. People who pay admissions at the gate have the right to expect the best for their money, a schedule that brings to the gridiron the spirit of competition, not back slapping or punch pulling.

The people deserve nothing less than football in District 26-B that carries with it the possibilities of triumph for every team, weak or strong. They deserve also a brand of football that is built around the traditions of the game, which are in brief, open competition and the survival of the best.

Just what has prompted the coaches of the district to fix such a condition, no one has had the satisfaction to know, so far as we are informed. District 26-B was rapidly building a fine spirit of competition. Each team played the other in a fair and interesting schedule. That all seems to end just where John Public was soaked on the beezer.

So far as Cameron is concerned District Title football will resolve down to a friendly spat between three teams in Milam and one almost within its borders. It is easy to say football should not be played for titles but for the love of the game. We agree, but that game must have the element of competition to be interesting.

This new thing will undoubtedly result in loss of finances and general interest in District 26-B football. The error of it may be bigger than the bump on John Public's head when the cash is counted next fall.

It looks like the work of crack-pots. At least it's a crack pot idea. Propaganda often persuades a people. Its going to take a lot to rob them of the opportunity of playing old foes on the gridiron this fall when the haze is in the sky.

Hill Trial To Open

Raby Hill will go on trial in Travis County district court Monday, Feb. 8, for the murder of George Richards, night policeman here in September 1935.

Hill was indicted by a Milam County grand jury and tried in December following the murder in September. The jury deliberated the death penalty and Hill was finally given a 99 year sentence in the Texas prison.

Misconduct was proven in the jury's handling of the case and Hill's attorneys sent up a record to the Court of Criminal Appeals that reversed and remanded the case. Hill, at first unable to make bond was released when the case was remanded, making satisfactory bond.

The case was re-set early last fall and Judge Graham Gills on his own motion, sent it to the Travis County court. The grounds being that difficulties would be encountered in obtaining a jury due to the publicity attending the case.

When the case was called for trial last October in Austin it was continued on account of absent witnesses, the time honored ground upon which continuances are granted. A second continuance is hardly probable in view of the fact that the court will hold witnesses in contempt and fine them $200 if they fail to appear.

Hill is now operating a cafe in Temple.

NEW BUS LINE IS SERVING CAMERON

The Holmes Buss Line Coaches began operation through Cameron on Thursday February 4, it was announced by Mr. Holmes who has an advertisement in this issue giving the schedules.

Mr. Holmes was in Cameron Wednesday to arrange for his terminal at the Right Hotel. The new bus line will travel from Temple through Heidenheimer and Rogers to Cameron. It goes through Maysfield and Port Sullivan to Hearne thus traversing a new territory.

Two bus lines now stop at the Right Hotel. They are the Bee Line Coaches and Holmes Motor Coaches.

IMPLEMENTS ARRIVE

Mauritz-Baldwin Corporation have received two cars of farm implements this week and they have been unloaded and will be assembled for the farm market this week.

FLOOD FUND HERE IS NEARING $1000

Received at Cameron	$496.99
Received at Rockdale	220.00
Received at Buckholts	65.87
Received at Thorndale	68.50
Received at Sharp	25.00
Received at Jones Prairie	10.00
Received at Maysfield	12.64
	$899.00

The Milam County quota was $750.00. Since then Admiral Grayson has said that quota must be increased to an undertermined amount depending on the amount of illness following the floods.

Several communities have not been heard from and others in the reported communities will doubtless want to contribute. It is our earnest desire to have Milam County pass the $1,000 mark. Contributions will be received until further notice.

List of contributers will be published next week.

The Cameron Theatre Midnight Show brought $101.10 to the Cameron fund.

Numerous friends of the Red Cross including the newspapers and heads of various organizations have been of assistance in this time of need. More appropriate mention of this will be made in our next report.

F. E. WOODRUFF.

$101.10 REALIZED FROM BENEFIT SHOW

The sum of $101.10 was remited by Stanley H. Swift of the Cameron Theatre from the midnight matinee benefit for flood sufferers, he reported at noon Wednesday.

Mr. Swift has made the largest single contribution to the almost $1000 now in hand for the Red Cross relief fund to go the Ohio Valley sufferers.

Advance sale of tickets insured a good return from the show. The attendance was good, despite weather and Mr. Swift was happy to have had so big a part in the plan of raising funds here.

LIONS MEET

District Governor Franks of Bryan urged Lions to take better interest in their organization here Monday night in a general get together of members and former Lions. A program of interest added to the meeting.

50 EXPECTED FOR DAY

Delegates to the District meeting of the United National Association of Postoffice Clerks will be in Cameron at 8 p. m. February, 12, for a banquet and business meeting, it was announced by Joe G. Matula, local secretary of the board.

Arrangements are being made to entertain 50 or more visitors. The banquet will be held in the cafateria of the Ada Henderson school. W. W. Skinner will be toastmaster and O. C. Acrey will deliver an address of welcome.

The organization is national and the district is composed of ten counties. W. F. Edwards of Galveston is President and Noel D. Patterson of Waco is state secretary. W. D. Robinson of Temple is District President and will be in Cameron.

This will be the first meeting of the association in Cameron. Local postal workers are being congratulated on bringing the convention to the city. The proceedings will be of interest to the people. Guest list includes a number of local business men.

Five local postal clerks are members of the association. Albert Collins is President of the local board.

IGA Store Going Strong With Pre Lent Sale Here

The progressive IGA store of A. J. Mondrik was forging ahead again this week in a continued merchandising campaign to serve an increased number of patrons.

The week-end sale is preceding Lent season and many foods products consumed during the season of abstinence are being sold at featured prices in this sale.

The January sales at this store were greatly stimulated by the advertising appropriation and the store is making Cameron a better place to trade.

DR. NEWTON ILL

Dr. W. R. Newton, state senator, is ill in his hotel at Austin. He contracted influenza and pneumonia has developed. It was reported at noon Wednesday his condition was somewhat improved but all danger has not passed.

LOSS OF CHEESE PLANT WOULD CRIPPLE CITY

Indications that the Kraft-Phoenix Cheese Company would close out its plant in Cameron within the next week, has aroused the Chamber of Commerce and all producers of milk.

While the entire transaction was not available officially for publication, it was known that a number of causes are listed, among them the condition of rural roads, bad weather, and flood conditions that annually plague the county.

Recently the company has been involved in suits asking payment of local bills incurred through the local management and due, it was alleged, to drivers of trucks on gasoline purchases.

If the plant here is closed it will be the third such plant to leave Cameron. The batting average of the Chamber of Commerce as it now stands is considerably less than bush league percentages. An effort is being made to save the plant to Cameron. Quick and definite action may be necessary and if the people want it they may yet have a chance to insure its continued operation.

The Yoemen swamped the Rockdale Tigers last Thursday night at Rockdale 32-12 to win the county Class A basketball title. The Yoemen will now participate in a tournament with the Class B and Rural school winners for the championship of Milam County. The winner will go to the district at Bryan.

Gerick and Barrett led the scoring with 16 and 10 points. The Yoemen led at the half 15 to 7. Rockdale made only 5 points during the second half to reward Walzel, Groppell, Blankenship, Garvin, Barrett and Gerick for their excellent defensive work.

The scores for the county championship games played by Cameron were as follows:

Rockdale 23, Cameron 36 at Cameron.

Tharndale 27, Cameron 33 at Cameron.

Thorndale 11, Cameron 12 at Thorndale.

The Rosebud team defeated the Yoemen 21 to 14 at Rosebud, but the Cameron players are out to get revenge Friday night. If the Cameron five can defeat Rosebud, it will have a good chance for first or second place in the district league.

As an added attraction, the Cameron teacher's team composed of Woods, Parnell, Weise, Haines, Franklin, Bennett, and Ruggles take the court against the undefeated Yarrellton Independents at 8:30. The teachers have been working out daily. EDITORIAL

For ages men have struggled for their own rights and for personal freedom. In this cause the United States were created, and because they offered a democratic form of government, they became the heaven for the oppressed, the home of free men.

Now we, the students of Yoe High School, have had offered to us a form of democracy. It is a weapon we may use to defend ourselves, but secretly we may reject, for at last, the first time in Yoe High's history, the students have a voice in its government!

Although at the present time the Student Council is only a suggestive body which meets every two weeks, we can by showing the proper attitude (which, by the way, is unfeigned interest) make it develop into a student government.

BAND LEAVES FOR CLINIC

The Clinic and Convention of the Texas Bandmasters will be held in Waco Hall, Baylor University, Waco, on the 5th and 6th of February. This clinic, in which the Yoe High School Band and Archestra Associabe held in conjunction with the annual State Convention of the Texas School Band and Orchestras ssociation. At this convention, all the representative bandmasters in Texas will congregate to attend to the business affairs of the Association and to make arrangements and plans for the annual band contest to be held in April.

The purpose of the clinic is to give to the assembled bandmasters all the knowledge and ideas possible concerning the numbers that are to be played in the coming contest. In order to properly demonstrate the contect numbers, a nationally known bandmaster, in this case Wm. D Revelli, is engaged to handle the demonstration, explain the complex detail of each number. In order to insure the depuate and satisfactory playing of each of the contest numbers, a careful selection of bands is made to handle this job.

This year there are a total of five bands chosen to play under Mr. Revelli, and the playing will be under the observation of all the assembled bandmasters. Mr. Revelli will handle each band as he sees fit, and it is something a very difficult thing to satisfy his critical demands for just the poper effect. This experience of playing under such a great man, however, more than makes up for any ordeal that the band musicians may go through with.

The band members will be housed in couples in private homes in Waco. Transportation to and from Waco Hall will be supplied by the citizens of Waco who are determined to uphold their record of perfect hospitality.

WHO'S WHO IN THE SENIOR CLASS

Frances Terry

Frances has attended the Cameron schools all of her life and has enjoyed her senior year most of all, she says. She has no favorite flower, but she likes mistletoe, although it is never in the right place. Her favorite sport is collecting gentlemen's handkershiefs for quilts; she is now on her second one. Brunettes are her dish, but any type will do in a pinch. Someday if her amibtion is fullfilled, she will marry a millionaire.

Frances likes Austin, but Cameron is better, she says, because there are no tall buildings and street cars.

She was the able pep-squad leader in 1935 and is now a member of the Spanish Club.

Catherine Monroe

Another student who will finish her twelfth year of study in Cameron schools in June is Caherine Monroe. From kindergarden days in 1925 she has always been a prominent student. In music, she is outstanding and plans to study piano after graduating from Yoe High, although Business Administration appeals to her as a possible vocation. Her chief desire is to travel, mainly in the United States.

Her plans for the future include a post-gradute course from Yoe High and a degree from Baylor University.

FARM DEBT OFFICIAL TO MEET WITH LOCAL FARMERS

"Farmers whose land is threatened with foreclosure should contact the local farm debt adjustment committee immediately, as even at such a late date these committeemen often can be decided assistance," says W. V. Hanover, district farm debt adjustment supervisor, who will be in Cameron next Tuesday, Feb. 9th.

Milam county farmers desiring financial advice should plan to meet with him and the local committee at from 10 a. m. to noon.

Farmers who are unable o attend the meeting should contact a committeeman beforehand and give hinn complete information about their problem. Farmers who plan to attend the meeting should bring with them a complete list of creditors and the amount owed each, including unpaid taxes.

The FDA supervisor does not represent any lending agency so he has no money to lend, but he does know all the places money might be secured to refinance a distressed farmer. GULF

THE WASHINGTON STAGE

REVIEWED BY

W. R. POAGE

OUR CONGRESSMAN

Washington, D. C., January 25.—The inauguration is over and I am sure that most of you either heard over the radio, or read in the papers, how bad the weather was on that day. Like thousands of others I stood in a downpour of cold rain to see the President and Vice President take their oaths, but also like thousands of others I now have a bad cold—and still the Washington weather stays bad—wet and cold, although no hard rain as on inuguration day.

There were a number of Texans here this past week, both for the inauguration and for the Council of State Governments which held its third annual assembly here the latter part of the week. In addition to these visitors, the Lieutenant Governor and representatives of the Texas Centennial were here in an effort to get more help for next year's exposition.

I trust that most of our people have already heard that Honorable James A. Farley, the Postmaster General of the United States, has promised to visit our district and dedicate the new Postoffice Building at Waco on some date in March. This is an especial honor, and especially so in view of the fact that the Postmaster General has never condescended to dedicate a postoffice outside of his native New York. It is his first official visit to any section since the great Democratic victory, which he so ably managed last fall. The invitation was extended by Honorable. Burris Jackson, Postmaster at Hillsboro, Texas, Honorable Luther Johnson, Congressman from Corsicana, Senator Morris Sheppard and myself. I hope to come to Texas with Mr. Farley and want every Democrat in Central Texas to join in extending to him a true Texas welcome.

Congress seems to be getting to work and I expect to see the weels turning regularly this week. Last week we finally passed the bill extending the life of the R. F. C. till 1939. While there was some opposition to the length of time and some criticism of some advances made to relief agencies, there was a very general agreement, even among Republicans, that the affairs of this agency had been very well handled. I felt that this was a splendid tribute to our fellow Texan, Honorable Jesse Jones, who has headed it.

Today the House is scheduled to take up the problem of providing a permanent feed-seed loan. I hope that this will be done without any further delay, as it is necessary that our people be able to know what they can do at once if these loans are to be of any value to them. I have sought to expedite this matter and think that we will get prompt action, although I think it is probable that it will be several weeks or even months before we get action on a farm purchase program. I hope to discuss this program soon and at this time will only say that the greatest danger that I see is that the new program may be made and intended primarily to help some land owners to unload some white rocks and Johnson grass on some poor tenant at about three prices rather than intended primarily to provide cheap money to the tenant so as to allow him to do his own buying.

Unemployment Compensation in Texas

What Makes a Man Ineligible for Benefits?

Question 11—"What must I guard against to keep from being ineligible for benefits under the law?"

Answer—The law provides minor penalties for minor violations of its rules. It also provides certain situations in which a worker can be unemployed and still not be able to draw any benefits.

(1) If you quit your job without any reason, the Commission may make you wait an extra three weeks before you can draw any benefits. Suppose you quit in the middle of the week. You draw no benefits that week; you are then forced to wait three weeks more because you quit your job without a reason, and then you must wait more weeks—the regular waiting period. In other words, it will be six weeks before you can draw your first check.

(2) If you are fired for misconduct, the Commission may force you to wait as long as nine weeks—plus the two weeks' waiting period.

(3) If you fail to sign up for work at the emplyment office; or, if you refuse to accept work when the employment office finds it for you; or if you ordinarily have a private occupation such as farming or carpenter work, when you do not have regular work, and you refuse to follow it; then the Commission may make you wait five weeks—plus the two weeks waiting period—before you can draw your first check.

(4) Strikers are not eligible to draw benefits.

These last two penalties (3 and 4) will be discussed in detail later on.

(5) If your emplyer gives you a week's wages when he fires you, then you cannot draw any benefits for that week. That week also is not counted when your benefits and your eligibility for benefits is decided.

(6) If you are drawing Workmen's Compensation for a certain week, then you cannot get a benefit check for that week, nor can you count that week in establishing your eligibility for benefits.

(7) If you are getting an old age pension or any similar pension or grant, you cannot draw any benefit checks.

Do I Have to Take Any Job Offered Me?

Question 12—"One of the previous articles said that I must accept new work when it was offered to me, or I would become ineligible for benefits. Suppose I am not trained for the new job; or suppose the new job would make me—a union worker—violate the obligations of my union membership. Must I still take the job?

Answer—The aim of these employment offices is to get you, as nearly as possible, into work that is suitable for you. Of course, the Commission wants to keep as many men working as possible; but all the facts are to be considered when a man is offered a new job.

In deciding whether the new job is suitable for you, the Commission can consider the following: The degree of risk involved to your health, safety and morals; your physical condition and your previous earnings.

The Commission will also consider the chances for getting local work at your customary job, the length of time you have been without a job, and the distance of this new work from your home.

However, the Commission will not make any man take a new job when it is vacant due to a strike; or if the wages and conditions of work are less favorable than the wages and conditions in similar jobs in that locality; or if taking the job would force you, against your will, to join a company union or would keep you from joining a recognized union.

Are Strikers Eligible for Benefits?

Question—"A previous article said that strikers cannot draw benefits under this Act. Suppose I lose my job as a result of a strike at my factory, although I personally had nothing to do with the strike. Will I be ineligible for benefits?"

Answer—No. But you must be able to prove to authorities that you had no part in the labor dispute.

You must show that you were not taking part in, or helping to finance, or directly interested in the labor dispute which stopped the work.

If you belong to a labor union or group, and other members of that union are interested in the dispute, then you will be considered to have a direct interest in it. In other words if any particular union in any one factory or mine or office becomes involved in a labor dispute, then all members of that local union in that plant are involved and none of them can draw unemployment benefits.

But law is very fair. If two businesses are conducted on the same premises and the workers in one groupe go on strike, the workers on the other group are not considered to be directly interested, although they belong to the same union.

If you have any questions conerning the operation of this law as it affects employers or workers, you can have your questions answered by writing to R. B. Anderson, chairman, Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, Austin.

THIS dish, "Vermont Ham N' Cornmeal Mush," points out a new way to serve left-over baked ham and cornmeal mush—in a quick-disappearing manner.

Make the mush according to your favorite recipe and add a few raisins when removing mush from flame. Pour into cleanly cut tin cans; cool, then store in modern air-conditioned ice refrigerator where it will keep fresh and moist until you desire to use it. Remove from refrigerator and open opposite ends of cans. Cut molded mush in ½ inch slices and sauté in butter. Serve with slices of left-over baked ham, reheated in oven with a maple syrup topping.

ture's method if they were in control, to know that the handling of the weather would be a complicated job. Even meteorologists could not tell them all the factors with which they would have to deal. They could not assure them that St. Swithin's day has nothing to do with the weather, tions would not go far toward making clear to the layman just what he could let himself in for if he should undertake to distribute rainfall and otherwise regulate atmospheric conditions.

Of course, scientists could explain the process of condensation so far as to depend upon the presence in the air of microscopic particles, known as "condensation nuclei," around which rain drops from when the moisture of the atmosphere is cooled to the point of condensation, but they the laymen would find, when they came to such mysteries as the possible factor of electrification in the development of rain drops of such weight that they fall to the earth.

Everything considered, therefore, it seems that man is still far from conquering the weather. Probably that is just as well. The confusion that would result from human control might prove worse than the present system, unsatisfactory as it is. There would be dry blocs and wet blocs. How could the weather engineer satisfy the golfer and the gardener on the same afternoon?

Repair crews, rushed into January sleet storm area, found miles of telephone line flattened by ice.

This lineman is patching through an emergency telephone line to an isolated town.

TELEPHONE MEN STILL WORKING TO REPAIR ICE-WRECKED LINES

Telephone men, still at work repairing damage from the $1,500,000 sleet which swept from the Iowa border to the Gulf in January, can remember no worse ice storm.

Yet they found, as they set about replacing 26,000 poles and 18,000 miles of wire leveled by the blast, that this year's disaster actually did less damage than the smaller 1924 ice storm. The reasons:

First—Most telephone poles today are creosoted yellow pine. They stand under ice that would snap poles used years ago.

Second—Constructed at heavy cost several years ago, an underground long distance cable through the heart of the storm belt "carried on." It formed a backbone of communication from which emergency lines could quickly be "patched through" to almost 100 isolated towns.

These things . . . improvements of the last 10 years . . . are a part of the Bell System's constant effort to make its lines proof against storm and disaster.

To those customers who were without service because of the storm, perhaps for several days, the company expresses its appreciation for their patience during a trying period.

they can't attend meetings because they don't have gasoline," she said. Women and girls, totaling 6,541, enrolled in 393 homes demonstration and 4-H Clubs in 15 counties of District 8, have provided 828,224 containers of canned or brined meats, fruits and vegetables; have stored, cured and dried 903,611 pounds of meats, fruits and vegetables in 1936. Various means were employed to provide this food. Some grew it all, some exchanged a surplus of one food for a shortage in another, while others exchanged labor for food.

In nine counties 3,836 women and girls have helped to clothe themselves and families fashionably and adequately by keeping account which have helped them to spend wisely the money available for clothing. A careful study of colors and designs suitable to the wearer, brands which are good, and care and cleaning of garments also aided.

Home improvements requiring very much money have not been made during the past few years, but the cash brought into the counties through the Agricultural Conservation Program has relaxed the tense feeling about money and many farmstead buildings have been repaired, new ones built, and the grounds landscaped. Anderson, Limestone and McLennan Counties conducted a kitchen improvement demonstration in which 1,136 of the 1,190 enrolled improved their kitchens by adding windows and doors, improving the floors and walls, installing water systems, adjusting work sufaces to comfortable heights and adding equipment such as storage cabinets, kitchen stools, refrigerators and lamps. A total of $13,995.41 was spent in making these improvements.

Totals show that 4,843 plants have been put out in landscaping farm homes; 1,018 trees have been set out, many of which are pecans and will add to the farm income in years to come.

Opera Star Votes for Cooking

COOKING is of universal interest, for men as well as women enjoy developing the art, according to Madame Elisabeth Rethberg, star of the Metropolitan Opera.

A world traveler interested in the various foods of all nations, Madame Rethberg collects recipes while on tour to try on her modern gas range when she returns to her home in Riverdale, New York. She has many old stand-by recipes and advocates substantial foods for physical sturdiness. Among her favorites are the German-Bohemian types of her youth, the Swiss, Italian, and Australian curried dishes.

The versatility of this star, who made her American debut in 1922, is evidenced by the fact that she sings in all languages, and numbers more than 125 roles in her repertoire. Although famous as "Aida," she sang the role of "Sieglinde" in "Die Walkuere" with which the New York opera season opened recently.

Freak Egg Taking All Records Now At Herald Office

The world's champion freak.. egg has just been brought to the office of the Herald by Frank Sproull of Ben Arnold.

The egg was found Wednesday morning and laid by a white leghorn hen. It resembles in appearance a very large overstuffed peanut, except of course the shell is white.

It is small in circumference and is in a half circle shape. It is pointed somewhat at both ends and could be taken for a fossil shell. From appearances it is normal except for shape.

It is the only egg of its kind ever shown in Cameron and looks like an all time winner for freakishness.

J. J. TAYLOR IS EDITOR DALLAS NEWS

Dr. J. J. Taylor, member of the editorial staff of the News for the last thirty-three years and editor of the State Press column since 1908, Tuesday was named editor in chief of The Dalls News and allied publications. He succeeds the late Dr. James Quayle Dealey.

Wiliam B. Ruggles, former sports edtor of The News and editorial writer since 1926, was appointed associate editor in chief of publications in the same announcement by the management. Lynn W. Landrum, associate editor of The Dallas Journal, and DeWitt McMurray, associate editor of The Semi-Weekly Farm News, were confirmed in their present positions.

A leader in the journalism of Texas and the Southwest from early manhood, Dr. Taylor comes to his new post with unusual qualifications and with one of the largest groups of admirers ever attracted to a newspaper writer. His reputation as a wit and a forceful public speaker for years has made him a strikingly effective figure in civic and social life. The influence of his personality in shaping a constructive, well-balanced and progressive editorial policy has been equally effective within the editorial sanctum.

Dr. Taylor was born July 13, 1869, at Wilson, N. C., but came to Texas as a youth. He settled at Clarksville where, in 1892, he became half owner of the Clarksville Times in association with S. B. Stanley. Among the first friends he made in Texas was John Nance Garner, then a struggling young attorney in Northeast Texas. The fast friendship maintained through the years between Dr. Taylor and the Vice President is typical of the genius of both men in the field of human relations.

Joins News in 1904

The clarity and force of Dr. Taylor's editorial writings in Clarksville brought him State-wide fame. In 1904 he joined the organization of The News, first serving as Sunday editor. Four years later he succeeded Col. William Greene Sterett, noted journalist of an earlier era, as editor of the State Press column. Although his by-line or initials have never been attached to this feature, his personality has been unmistakably identified with this humorous and human and philosophical column in the minds of more than one generation of readers. Dr. Taylor also is the author of the daily Snap Shots, a brief distillation of wit and humorous comment which is quoted widely in this country and abroad and has been reprinted in every language, including that of diplomacy.
